San Diego Unified wants everybody to pay over $400 million for real estate development. The bill should be called:

“Employee Housing, San Diego Student Safety, and School Repair Measure”

Allocating more spending for real estate then security!

Measure U – SDUSD’s bond measure on this November ballot wants YOU to approve ANOTHER $3.2 BILLION and YET PAY for an additional $7 Billion in property tax – AND:

- SDUSD still has $2.6 Billion dollars available from previous bonds
- Taxpayers are still paying on over $18 billion dollars from previous bonds. ALL homeowners and renters living in the San Diego Unified School
- District will pay for this bond whether they have kids in school or not.
- The most vulnerable are the most impacted - forced to pay increased property taxes and increased rent to fund district real estate instead of student programs and learning objectives including:
  - Individuals and families living under the poverty levels!
  - Low income families or individuals
  - Fixed income families or individuals
  - Seniors
  - The underserved
  - The underprivileged
  - ALL new homeowners
  - Everybody trying to buy a new home
- READ THE FINE PRINT - The list of Measure U proposed projects mimics previous bond lists of projects already approved. Don't pay twice for the same work.
  - The School District is shamelessly and disingenuously using recent school shootings as the reason they need the bond yet they never used over $200 Million from previous bonds allocated for school security and this bond only calls for less than 10% of the $3.2 billion for security.
  - SDUSD publicly and falsely claim that homeowner property taxes will not increase. They will.
  - The Measure U cost to those living in the San Diego School District will be over $7 billion dollars and paid year over year for decades.
